

Pre-conference discussion meeting - How to exploit occupational, environmental, and health-registry data together in cancer prevention?

Where: Meeting room “Macro” at the Cancer Registry of Norway, Ullernchausseen 64, 0379 Oslo.
When: 24.09.2025, 14.30-18.00

Welcome

14.30 – 15.00 Registration and coffee/tea
15.00 – 15.10 Jo S Stenehjem - Senior Researcher, Cancer Registry of Norway-NIPH, University of Oslo

Flash Talks: Setting the Stage

15.10 – 16.15 Seven short presentations (7 minutes each) will introduce key perspectives on the topic, serving as primers for the upcoming panel discussion
Moderator: Tom Grimsrud

- Tom K. Grimsrud - Cancer Registry of Norway-NIPH
On-going projects at the Cancer Registry: briefly on history and challenges.
- Marcin Wojewodziec - Cancer Registry of Norway-NIPH
Computational Toxicology in Risk Assessment.
- Karl-Christian Nordby - National Institute of Occupational Health in Norway
STAMI's epidemiology projects.
- Shan Narui - National Institute of Occupational Health in Norway
Mechanistic and toxicological data at STAMI.
- Mary Schubauer-Berigan – International Agency for Research on Cancer
How to exploit occupational, environmental and health-registry data together in cancer prevention research.
- Paolo Vineis - Imperial College London
Exposome and molecular aspects.
- Kurt Straif - Boston College
Future research recommendations.

Break

16.15 – 16.30

Moderated Panel Discussion

16.30 – 18.00 A structured and interactive panel discussion featuring invited speakers and audience participation. The session will explore opportunities and challenges in integrating occupational, environmental, and health-registry data for cancer prevention.
Moderator: Tom Grimsrud